Mr. Forsythe,

I believe the below post is your post from Chessdiscussion.com. Under the circumstances, I am sending this email to you as a warning and do not expect to EVER see [redacted]. I consider this [redacted] to be harrassment in its purest form. A copy of this email will also be sent to [redacted]. I do not take things of this nature lightly.

Received a hostile email last night from Donna Alarie, and debated to release the email from last night until this afternoon. With the email I have removed the email address and removed other material from the email. The other reason with the removal (black out), was the fact I understand that scholastic age chess players also read the topics within this message board.

Mr. Forsythe,

Mr. Nolan and/or USCF do not have my permission to give you any personal information of mine whatsoever. It is absolutely none of your business what my birth date is nor do you have any need for that information since I do not know you personally or otherwise.

I believe the below post is your post from Chessdiscussion.com. Under the circumstances, I am sending this email to you as a warning and do not expect to EVER see correspondence from your email address in my inbox again. Got an idea, lets publically tweak terrorists. The Department of Homeland Security could raise the color code to RED. The Department of Homeland Security knows who they are looking for and with the code at RED: it would be pointing everyone at the terrorists.

What Brain did with the releasing of the IP address of all the posters within the United States Chess Federation Issue Forum was to place fear within all the members of the United States Chess Federation Issue Forum. That was a clear breaking of TRUST and a breaking of GOODWILL. The action of Brain had everything to do with everyone, as Brain added the fear of the IP address. As he understood talking about IP addresses without fear: he would not have much traction. Talking about the IP addresses when people have fear about IP addresses only added more traction.

Fear has been a powerful tool in politics, as people will vote or support an issue based on fear then vote or support an issue based on rational claims. All that Brain has and all his supports have is to make you fear something. Does anyone want to support someone that want to make you fear and make you notice your insecurities?

With the help of Mike Nolan, I want to confirm your birth date from the USCF database as being redacted?
